Product Profile

Superfuzz®

PRODUCT OVERVIEW

The rare Jordan Electronics Bosstone—circa 1968—is considered by many to be the ultimate vintage fuzz. The Voodoo Lab Superfuzz® starts with this classic fuzz design and adds unique tone and resonance circuits to create an amazing new array of fuzz tones.

The tone control delivers a wide spectrum of midrange and bass timbres, everything from an extreme gain scooped tone through a raucous, bluesy, prominent mid voicing. The resonance control is a sub-harmonic booster that lets you add an aggressive bottom end not typically found on fuzz pedals. Attack varies the gain from rich and creamy to outrageous.

CONTROLS

- ATTACK: The gain control. Turning it up will provide additional sustain and buzz.
- TONE: This control affects mostly the midrange frequencies. Set to 12:00 for a classic fuzz sound. Turn it down for a modern “scooped” tone. Turn it up for a prominent midrange, bluesy voicing.
- RESONANCE: Essentially a sub-harmonic boost that allows you to bring up the bottom end without losing bass crispness or causing excessive speaker distortion. Turn it all the way down for traditional fuzz. Turn it up for girth and fatness, or when playing at low volume.
- VOLUME: Sets the output level.
